

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY · BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21218

THE THOMAS C. JENKINS DEPARTMENT OF BIOPHYSICS

December 28, 1966

Dr. William Liller
Chairman, Department of Astronomy
Harvard College Observatory
Cambridge, Mass. 02138

Dear Bill:

This letter is to inform you that I hereby transfer ownership of my telescope, camera, and dome to Harvard University. The telescope is an 10" F15 refractor and includes a 3" finder and a 3" Ross-Fecker Astrograph. The dome is 22 feet in diameter, of steel construction, and covered with copper.

I am naturally quite pleased to learn that the instruments and dome will be used on the new Science Center. I, of course, authorize the sale of this gift by the university at some later date if it becomes obsolete or is duplicated. I am also quite willing to leave the telescope and the dome in their present location in Ohio until Harvard is ready for them.

I sincerely hope that your Christmas was a merry one and that this will be the happiest of New Year's for you.

Sincerely,

Charlie

Charles R. Michael